Course Notes

Building on the success of the previous programs, the 4th European Interventional Cardiology Fellows Course is a 2.5 day meeting for cardiology fellows who have been accepted for training in interventional cardiology, are performing their period of training or young cardiologists who have recently completed their training or wish to refresh their interventional education.

Organised on behalf of the European Association of Percutaneous Cardiovascular Interventions (EAPCI) the course draws upon the skills and expertise of an international faculty. The format consists of didactic lectures, pre-recorded cases, and an innovative case review session that allows delegates to interact with the faculty and learn by experience.

Professor Carlo Di Mario

On behalf of the Organising Committee

For those members of the EAPCI (<http://www.escardio.org/communities/EAPCI/Pages/membership.aspx>) the speaker presentations will be posted on the EAPCI website within 2 weeks of the course. Membership of EAPCI is free.
