

Dr. Sarah ADAMS, Alnylam

Dr. Sarah Adams, MD, eMBA, is an Oxford-educated, US-board-certified physician and seasoned medical affairs leader with extensive experience in affiliate medical leadership, digital health, and change management.

Currently serving as Senior Country Medical Director for Germany at Alnylam Pharmaceuticals, she spearheads the medical affairs team in Germany in rare disease and specialty indications. Previously, she held leadership roles at Moderna and Google Search, driving digital transformation, AI adoption, and medical content strategies.

With a strong background in rare diseases, digital health, and health communication, Dr. Adams combines scientific expertise with business acumen to shape impactful medical strategies in highly regulated environments.