

Mr. Michael MADIGAN, Ireland

Michael Madigan is an Irish and European Heart Patient Advocate passionate about reducing the individual and global burden of Cardiovascular Disease.

He is a retired Clinical Nurse Manager with 20 years of experience working in the NHS and Irish Health Service, who has lived with heart failure since experiencing a STEMI in 2016.

Michael is a very active ESC Volunteer and member of the ESC Patient Forum. In addition to being a CRT Nucleus member he sits on the ESC Communication Committee and Heart Failure Matters Committee. He is also a European Heart Network Patient Consultant on the AI4HF Project Team.

At home in Ireland Michael is an Irish Heart Foundation Patient Advocate, a member of the National Office of Clinical Audit Irish Heart Attack Audit Committee, a member of the Prevention Sub-Group of the National Heart Programme and sits on a number of committees at his local hospital in Cavan.

Michael focuses on Quality Improvement in all of his volunteering activities and is especially interested in the role of Social Media and AI in raising awareness about Cardiovascular Disease and improving the quality of life of people living with it.