Mission & objectives

- Our main objective is to promote cardiac and intensive care nursing in Israel, to deliver the best care possible to intensive care patients and their families. This is done by developing professional expertise, continue knowledge update (courses and conferences), policy and protocol development (scientific council) and develop standards for quality assurance of treatment.
- Our association has an EBN working group whose active participants are educators, head nurses, bedside nurses, researchers, all volunteers. We all share a common passion to improve nursing care and promote patient and family centered care.
- We encourage organization's representatives to participate in regular medical/nursing settings (MOH, etc.) and have representatives on national and international councils, societies and associations (EfCCNa, ACNAP, WFCCN etc.)
- Our evidence-based nursing (EBN) group publishes studies and encourage implementation of evidenced based guidelines into practice

We Benchmark - develop the highest standards we can for Israeli Cardiac & Intensive Care nurses

2. Challenges & barriers amongst our nursing community

Association of Cardiovascular
Nursing & Allied Professions

- In our EBN meetings, we discuss common problems, crises, and frustrations regarding our daily bedside work.
- When searching for a systematic review on evidenced based protocol for a certain subject, we found an abundance of literature including contradictory data, so we decided to investigate what was being done in our country. This led to our first evidence-based research publication. But what about follow up of guidelines? We publish EBN evidence and then aim to close the gap between best published evidence and bedside practice.
- We care for our patients, but what about us – nurses? We discussed the subject about bullying among peers. Does it exist? Do we suffer from bullying in our workplace? It is a very difficult subject to confront. Nurses from ICUs & CCUs participated in this study and this led to two publications.
- Many nurses are recruited to treat COVID-19 patients. During this pandemic, we have given a platform on our website, to enable ICCU & ICU nurses to express themselves, write their personal story & share experiences.
