

ACNAP MENTORING PROGRAMME

Jeroen Hendriks

Research mentor

Discipline	Cardiology – Arrhythmia
Qualifications	RN – MSc – PhD
Affiliation	Flinders University and Royal Adelaide Hospital
Country of residence	Australia
Link to external web page/research website with publication list	Professor Jeroen Hendriks - Flinders University
Career overview	Professor Hendriks is the inaugural Leo J Mahar Professor of Cardiovascular Nursing. This is a clinical academic role at the Caring Futures Institute, College of Nursing and Health Sciences, Flinders University and the Department of Cardiology, Royal Adelaide Hospital. The focus of his research is in the field of Atrial Fibrillation management and redesigning healthcare by means of development of novel models of care delivery based on the concept of Integrated Care.
Research focus	Integrated Care – Novel approaches of care delivery
Collaborations	Professor Hendriks has extensive international networks spanning Europe, USA and Australia.
Keywords related to research interests	Integrated Care Atrial Fibrillation Person centred care Multidisciplinary team approaches Guideline development