ESC Endorsement Policy for Live Events in General Cardiology

What is ESC Endorsement and when should an endorsement request be completed?
Organisers of Live Events (*) – in General Cardiology - seeking collaboration with ESC () in the organisation or development of their educational programmes, should systematically complete an online endorsement request.

Subspecialty live event programmes will be reviewed by relevant constituent bodies.

* Live event = meeting, congress, course with physical attendance of participants

 Collaboration with ESC = inviting ESC speakers/ Key Opinion Leaders and/ or using ESC branding and name and/or using Educational Content developed by ESC Speakers

1. The endorsement request can only be submitted:

- ✓ online
- ✓ for live events
- ✓ in General Cardiology

[https://escardio.formstack.com/forms/esc_endorsement_live_events]

2. The Scientific Programme will systematically be reviewed by the ESC Education Committee and must comply with the ESC Blue print (set of rules):

- ✓ It must not promote single products/devices. Multi Sponsorship is required.
- ✓ The programme must be based on recent ESC guidelines/ESC consensus documents. Case-based presentations are strongly encouraged.
- ✓ It has to be interactive to better engage participants (via group discussions, breakout sessions, voting...)
- ✓ Learning objectives and expected outcomes must be clearly defined.
- ✓ It should align with identified needs and assess progression, an evaluation mechanism must be implemented (pre- & post-tests).
- ✓ It should not harm ESC image
- ✓ Feedback on the event is required.
- ✓ Local National Cardiac Societies should be informed of the event and be involved in it if possible.

3. Endorsement is subject to a contract between the requester and the ESC, defining role and duty of each party, as well as to fee payment.

4. There are 3 different types of endorsement and related fees

- ✓ ESC Member courses organised jointly with NCS
